
INDIVIDUALS STAR

Where can I go?
What can I do?
Am I at the end of
The beginning or
The beginning of
The end?

The choice is mine.
The paths are there.
If I look I shall see.
If I search I shall find.

One must measure and weigh.
One must see with more than eyes.
The paths are all there,
But the signs will not guide.

The navigation will be hard.
The variables will hurt.
You must look for the constant.
And what shall you find?

From hate to love . . .
From war to peace . . .
The answer is there,
It is the individual.

From the one comes life.
From the one comes death.
From the one comes the answer
To the question you seek.

Through every action there
Will be a reaction.
So think of your path
Before you attack.

This is a beginning as much
As it is an end.

You can only look back so far,
But you can reach for the stars.

South Division Winners!

By John Finazzo

The opening kick-off received by the Rams was taken down field 87 yards for a touchdown. By the end of the first quarter the Troy Colts tied the game 7-7. Quarterback Scott Misener connected a 37 yard pass to Greg Gose, set up by Lamphere's hard-hitting defense. Matt Monette bulled his way into the end zone from the 5 yard line for his second touchdown of the evening, compiling 106 yards in 20 carries. Scott Misener hit 6 of 12 passes for 110 yards and Greg Gose had 4 good receptions totaling 90 yards. All team members were proud of the final score, 19-7, which clinched their South Division Crown.

We Celebrate

"Homecoming has always been a very special time for Lamphere, and I'm glad that this year turned out to be best!", commented Homecoming Queen Lorraine Anderson. "Good memories will stay with everyone involved; I know they will always stay with me." Class participation was great as shown by the large crowds at the tug of war and bonfire, Thursday night's last minute float building, and Friday's parade and game. Friday, after all the excitement was over, people looked forward to Saturday night's Homecoming Dance, "The Way We Were," presented by the Senior Class of 1980. After so many weeks of planning, it was sad when all the festivities had to end.

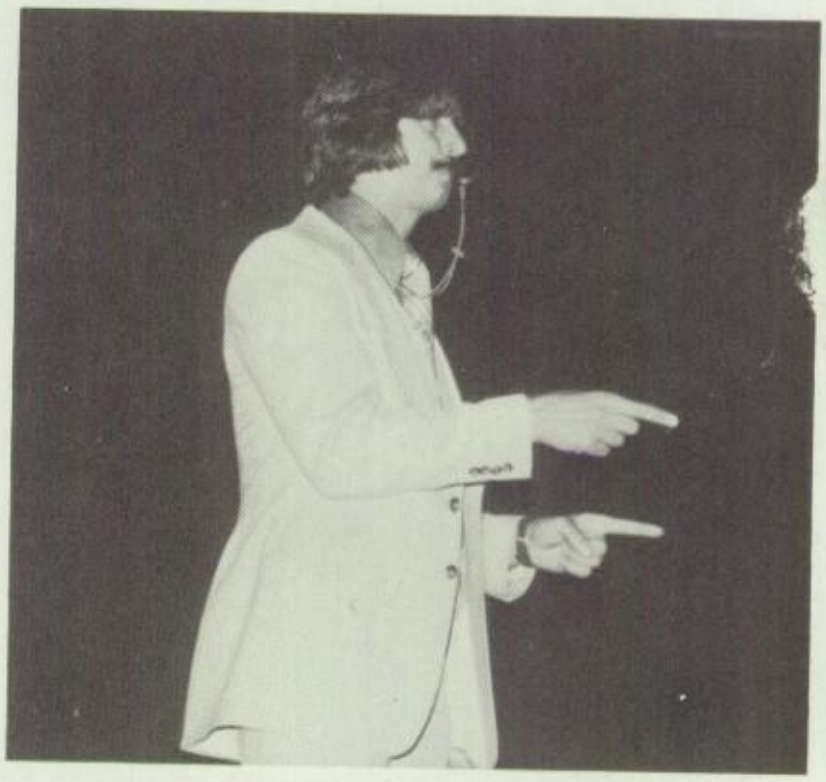
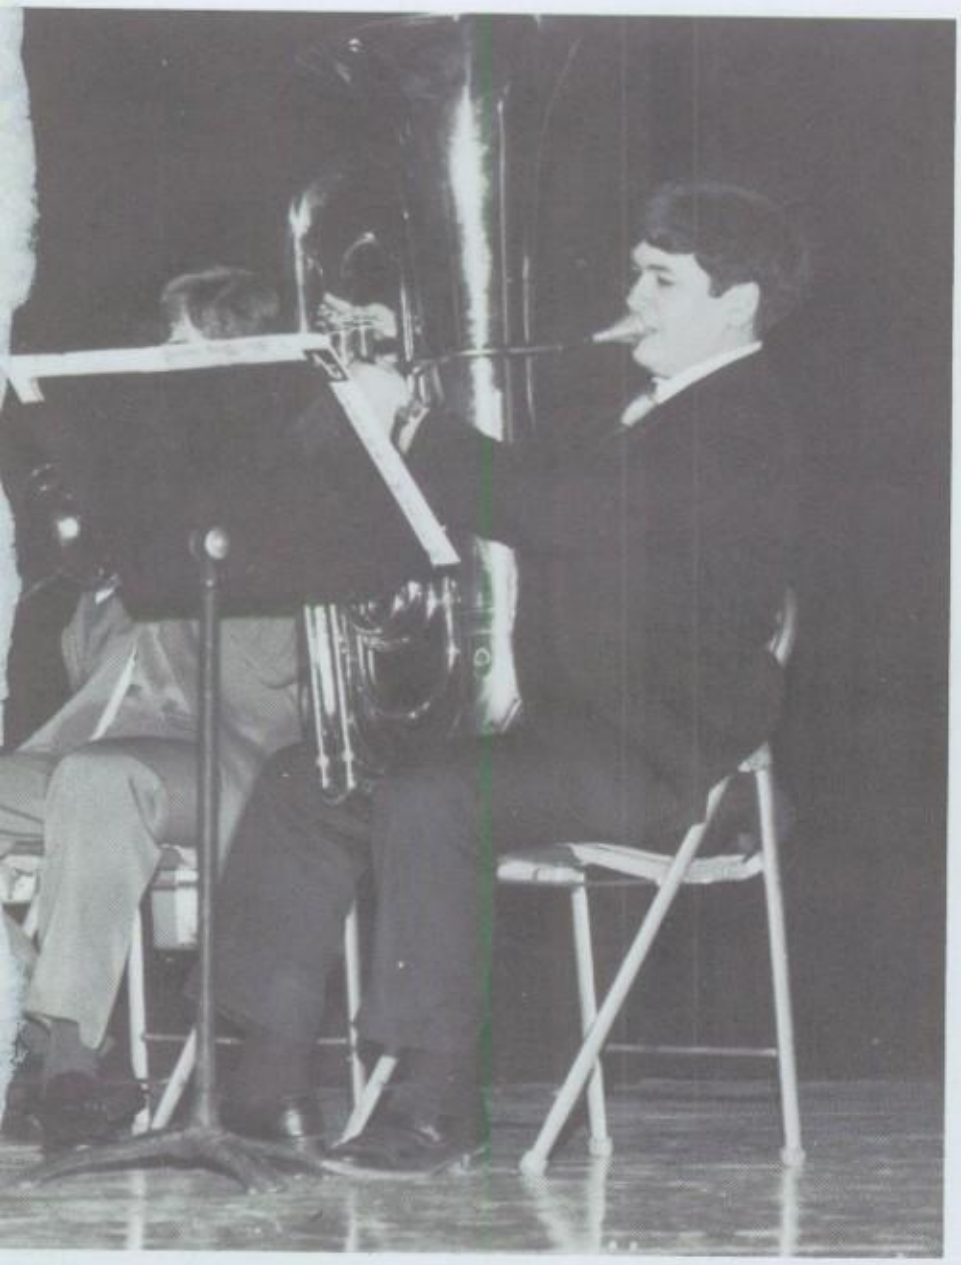
Band Provides Musical Growth



With Variety



by Frank Storer

Over 100 students of Lamphere made up the 1979-80 Lamphere Marching Rams. This season was the biggest success that the Band has ever seen. The fans really enjoyed the shows the band worked so hard to put on. Each show had its own theme, some of the more popular shows were, The fight songs, The Jazz of the 40's, and Superman. The Band was fortunate to buy new uniforms by having many successful fund raisers. The most popular were the Woody Herman Concert and the Fruit Sale. Lamphere is proud to have such a successful band.

(above right) Together Woody Herman and the Lamphere Jazz Band performances brought a total of $2,800 dollars, which goes toward the band fund. Students of Lamphere High School held a Superdance for Muscular Dystrophy. The dance was held in memory of Tommy Peacock, a senior at Lamphere who died on January 14 of Muscular Dystrophy. We raised $3793. Greg Gruse, first place winner of the stereo, decided to hold a drawing for the stereo with money going for further support of Muscular Dystrophy. All participants in the dance are to be commended.

Red-dog, blitz, hut-hut, ready, set . . . a foreign language? No! Just a bunch of your ordinary high school girls getting ready for the annual battle of the Powder Puffs. This year's game was no different. After weeks of grueling practice, the game took place on a cool, Saturday evening in October. The outcome of the encounter in no way indicated the spirit and enthusiasm displayed by all who participated. Words alone cannot express how grateful I am to all the young ladies who put up with all they had to go through before, during and after the game.

HARVEY

The idea of seeing only the good in others was explored in the warm hearted comedy "Harvey." Steve Antkiewicz was Elwood Dowd, whose closest friend was a six foot tall invisible rabbit. Annette Green as his niece Mertle and Kris Wernett as his sister Veta were mortified. The psychiatrist was played by Pat McCaughan, who sees the six foot rabbit, also. Everything turns out fine in the end when Elwood's family finally decides that a content Elwood who sees six foot rabbits is better than a realistic, grouchy "normal" human being. Also involved in the production were Allison Bates, Cindi Anderson, Glenn Henderson, Paul Nicocia, Tony DiCecco, Laurie Geralds, Boyd Walker and Julie Mustonen.

Sound of Music

by Jennifer Bette

A beautiful re-creation of the motion picture, "The Sound of Music," was captured on stage at Lamphere Auditorium. Joseph Kash directed and guided the actors to perform with the utmost accuracy. To set the mood for each scene was the Lamphere band, directed by Allen Russek. Throughout the entire play the band was there to bring the right musical atmosphere. Up above in a place named heaven the lighting and technical areas of the play were supervised by Paul Zimnie. Sharon Simpson put it well when she said, "It was rewarding because the audience really enjoyed the performance."

(above left) The crew for this year's show were: 1st row: Pat England, Maria Sweitzer, Annette Green. 2nd row: Lorainne Anderson, Roger DeArment, Patti Benskey, Karen Cardona. 3rd row: Al Coulter, Neil Camp, Jeff Hignite, Jim Owens, Paul Zimnie, Ed Clendennin, Debbie Solnickowski. (above right) Bill VanDyke, was disguised as "Ma Bell" of "Ma Bell and the Dialtones". (below left) Previously unknown talent was discovered in this year's show. Mary Bayer sings "Let It Rain". 1980 Dinner

Invocation by Paul Nicosia.

Let us pray, and thank God for allowing us to gather here today as a great variety of people. We are lucky in the fact that God has enabled us to put what we think and feel into attractive words and pictures for others to read and see. Perhaps we don't realize what influence we have on the lives of others, and what a responsibility this is.

Let us pray that we continue to work for the common good and thank those who have given of themselves to guide and teach us.

Senior Year

by Paul Olsztyn

June finds our first trilogy complete
Grammar, Middle, and High are all behind.
In all we did compete;
The goal of knowledge we strived to find.

In grammar we were like raw clay;
The fingers of our teachers did knead.
We learned to sing, dance, and for a while to stay;
This was our time to learn to heed.

Our second part was like havoc;
Pulled in every direction till some were torn.
A time to learn of yourself and take stock;
This was a time to learn why you were born.

In this last we took measures to our purpose
Traveling away from what we all thought was us.

Graduation 1980

by Peggy Jenkins

The time has come to say good-bye
as we graduate from Lamphere High.
Mixed emotions fill our hearts,
as from our school we now depart.
We realize we have to go,
fulfilling dreams we cherish so,
We'll keep fond memories in our minds,
Remembering all we've left behind.
The sports events and spirit day,
A Senior trip, which took us far away.
At Prom we danced the whole night through,
Making hopes and dreams come true!
As we travel far and near
We'll remember those we've left back here.

(above left) Kim Knight and Debbie Barnett await the moment of turning their tassels. (above right) Faculty and board members start the graduation ceremonies. The Soul Is the Flame
by Sheila Alber
Class of '81

When I look into a fire,
I can see the stages of human life.
When the tiny white flames
try to cling to the fresh white wood,
the infant tries to cling to understanding
As the flames grow taller and hotter,
The child grows older, and burns with curiosity.

When the flames stretch out the highest and hottest,
The child enters adulthood, still longing
to learn more, and filled with energy.
As the wood grows burnt and scarred
and the flames grow shorter.
The human soul grows less naive and also scarred.

Mortal time grows shorter along with the flame.
The wood becomes charred and crumbly.
The body becomes old and decrepit.
The soul is the burning flame.
The wood is the aging body.
The flame goes away, but does not die.

The black, dying wood swallows the flame.
As the glow of heat leaves the dead ash,
and fades into the wind,
The soul flies into the wind,
And leaves an empty body.
Maybe tomorrow we'll build another fire.

MACOMB ATHLETIC CONFERENCE
By George Jesko, Athletic Director

The 1980-81 school year will mark the beginning of a new era of athletic competition for Lamphere High School with the emergence of the Macomb Oakland Athletic Conference. This new affiliation promises to be very exciting and competitive, but will end a very successful and memorable tenure in the now extinct Oakland "A" Athletic Conference. Alumni and our students have experienced both success and failure through athletic competition with these Oakland A schools which will leave them with many fond memories.

The member schools of the new Macomb Oakland Athletic Conference are: Centerline, Clawson, Lamphere, Madison, Warren Fitzgerald, Warren Lincoln, Warren Towers, and Warren Woods.

As well as being a very competitive conference, the schools are very similar to one another as far as enrollment and type of communities that the students come from. Travel to and from will be a great improvement with the fartherest trip being to the 12 mile and Hoover area.

All-Sports Banquet

The banquet brought together athletes and their families to honor all the students who participated in sports. Among those attending were: Nina Wrubel, Kathryn Moran, Paul Fontana, Kevin McClellan, Coach Jack Dawson and A. D. George Jesko. (opposite page) Coach Brian Ramaut, Marty Agnello, Tim Penz, Ed Barnes, Coach Pete McKenzie, Wayne Mentier, Terry Zuzindlak, Rob Borngesser, Rob Fidler, Brad Marin, Brad Firestone, Steve Polan, Coach Joe Kessler, Kevin Boyd, Dave Byland, Barry Thompson, and Gina Monette.
